

PARTNER RESORT PROGRAM

PARTNER WITH US

Become a resort partner of the No Trash Triangle Initiative and play a part in protecting the delicate marine ecosystem around North Sulawesi.

WHO ARE WE?

No-Trash Triangle Initiative was founded to protect the Coral Triangle from plastic pollution. Our work is informed by science and enabled by collaboration across multiple partners, countries and institutions.

OBJECTIVE

We've successfully implemented a waste management model on Bangka Island and want to roll this out across North Sulawesi by partnering with resorts across the region to stop plastic pollution at its source.

THE PROBLEM

North Sulawesi is in the heart of the Coral Triangle - the global epicenter of marine biodiversity. This unique environment is home to an abundance of sea life, plants and animals and its protection is fundamental to tourism in the region. Yet, we're still seeing tonnes of plastic wash up on our beaches every day.

OUR MODEL

The No-Trash Triangle Initiative has built a model that aims to tackle plastic pollution at the source. Since 2017, we've been committed to implementing a replicable waste management process on Bangka Island.

We work with a waste collection partner in Manado to ensure that waste from Bangka Island is disposed of correctly, maintaining collection, sorting and transportation networks. We properly dispose of non-recyclable materials at the managed landfill site and sell the recyclables to recover some of the transportation costs, thereby creating a commercially viable model.

We recently partnered with CleanHub and PRLS which has allowed us to expand the range of plastics we can recycle using innovative new chemical recycling techniques.
